

Bradley College

At Bradley College, we know that improving the performance of your organization is a major part of your success in business. We also know it can be a difficult task to focus on in the midst of changes, resource constraints, and trying to grow. Let us—help you.

To reach leading edge and world class status, there are two factors that employers need to be aware of:

- 1) Investing in the development of a professional, versatile workforce at all levels is the best defense against changes, employee turnover, and absenteeism, while improving morale.
- 2) Employees today know with the constant changes in the work environment, and ever evolving change to technology, that to keep abreast of it all, they expect to be kept up to date through education and training programs provided by the employer.

We can work with you to identify key business goals and challenges that coincide with developing your employee's effectively. At Bradley College, we are your Corporate University.

Your company's source for a better learning environment & culture.

Bradley College— the smart choice

Bradley College is the smart choice to take care of your learning needs and solutions. Whether you are large or small, we help you move forward with creating a culture of employee importance to the success of the business. A survey showed that 73% of employees felt their value to the company was motivated by the education and training opportunities the company provided internally, as well as through college tuition assistance programs.

Bradley College can help you create a positive environment to cultivate improved morale and self-worth amongst your employees.

Conveniently Located

We are centrally located in eastern Idaho in the city of Blackfoot, which lies between Idaho Falls and Pocatello. For those in eastern Idaho, that means no per diem. For those traveling to Blackfoot, we have two airports within 30 minutes, that are normally cheaper to fly into than just flying into Salt Lake City, and the per diem rates are also typically much lower than most larger cities, so overall, Blackfoot is a great place for your training venues.

Corporate University

Rather than trying to create your own or maintaining an existing CU, Bradley College can provide the web environment for your on-line courses in addition to the classroom setting. We can cover everything from employee orientations, OSHA, DOT, EPA, quality, and radiological courses to management, leadership, customer service, etc. If we don't have it, we'll either create it or find a curriculum and instructor for it.

Customized Training

All courses can be customized to suit your particular needs and company specifics. For example, we can create company specific New Employee Orientation, sites specific OSHA & EPA courses, and any other specific processes you may have or need to incorporate. We have worked with DoD and DOE, aviation/airline, automotive, construction, and electrical industries to name a few.

Courses can be developed for live delivery, computer based, intra and internet web-based, depending on your needs.

Cost Effectiveness

Our Corporate University is a fraction of the cost of what it would take to have your own university because the cost is shared among all our customers, thus providing a great service to you and your employees.

In addition, Bradley College working with or as your training department, you save money and the headache of having to staff a training team to meet your needs. We can provide learning at your facility or ours in Blackfoot. Because we print our materials in bulk, the savings are passed on to keep it affordable for everyone.

Training Record Management

We provide employee training record management via electronic, and as needed paper based. This frees up valuable space in your offices and provides a central location for all training records. A valuable key to record keeping is being able to track employees initial, continuing, and recurring training, as well as any qualification and certification requirements prescribed by various mandates.

When we find a recurring training need for your organization, whether it is a course or a qualification/certification requirement, we will notify the supervisor, the employee, and HR, of the pending course in order to schedule with class dates and times. Upon completion of all training, certificates will be issued with PDF copies placed in an electronic folder for the individual which is in a dedicated file for your company.

Should an employee leave the company, we provide a paper copy of their training records for presentation to the new employer.
